'I Will Not Comply': Social Media Erupts Over Biden Vaccine Mandate Speech

Social media erupted Thursday following President Joe Biden's announcement that he will be mandating vaccination, testing, and mask requirements for not just federal employees, but many private businesses, too.

“Companies with at least 100 employees must require their employees get vaccinated or submit to weekly COVID-19 tests under a new Biden administration plan to combat the coronavirus and encourage vaccination,” The Daily Wire reported. “President Joe Biden is scheduled to outline a revamped federal strategy to address COVID-19 that includes far more invasive regulations and restrictions than the federal government has put in place to date. Part of Biden’s six-point plan involves cracking down on 100+ employee companies to push their employees to get vaccinated against COVID-19.”

According to The Wall Street Journal, the U.S. Labor Department plans to issue an emergency temporary standard in a matter of weeks “implementing the new requirement, which will cover 80 million private-sector workers. ... Businesses that don’t comply can face fines of up to $14,000 per violation, [officials] said.”

The backlash online was immediate.

Daily Wire co-founder and CEO Jeremy Boreing took to Twitter to say he would not comply with President Biden’s dictates.

There are treatments available. Thus the emergency use authorization could not be used. This is all political.

Notice how it got FDA approval now that other treatments came out that have been around for years. They knew they couldn't keep getting people force injected without FDA approval. They even say on the website they don't know the long term side effects.

I was vaccinated in April- if this mandate had existed then I would not have taken the vaccine. I sincerely regret my decision. To be mandated by the fed is to be irreparably defective.

I'm an RN, not vaccinated because I am previously infected and recovered. Set to lose both my jobs come OCT 31. Our staffing is so tight right now that even a 5-10% loss in staff at this point would be devastating and costly to healthcare facilities. Even if there were vaccinated nurses to backfill,...See more

It should be interesting considering businesses can't currently fill jobs. I've had covid, so I will not be getting the shot. The term vaccine is reserved for injections that actually cure/prevent a disease. When's the last time we saw one of those?

Hence the CDC's recent redefining of the word "vaccine." Go over to PJ Media & look up an article called "The CDC Just Made an Orwellian Change to the Definition of 'Vaccine' and 'Vaccination" (Edited)

So here is my two cents...I am an oncology nurse, also unvaccinated. MANY nurses won't take the vaccine. Our jobs are threatened and yet we are "essential." While I am completely with you on this, may I ask why as a nurse you chose not to take it? I keep hearing doctors and nurses say they didn't want it and I am curious what made you decide that? Was it just the lack of data? (Edited)
